A BREATH OF LAUGHTER

The country is saved!

Suspicion that the Teapot and other Dome scandals in Washington could not be as terrific as painted are confirmed by the action of the august senate of the United States in its little excursion after comedy relief several days ago. Now we know that the American sense of humor is not buried under a pile of charges and oratory.

A little nonsense is not only a relish to be desired as an aid to a bit of straight seriousness, but is a highly remedial ingredient in a dose of senatorial scandal. It loosens up the tissues, lets the blood flow more freely to the brain and causes a lifting of the mental fog that often hides realities.

The mere fact that debate in the senate at this time can be interrupted for a moment while the grave seigneurs bandy parodies promises relief some day from the massive outpourings of these worthies in a campaign year.

It is especially refreshing to find Senator Lodge climbing down from the lofty pinnacles of Parnassus and indulging in the sort of repartee that ordinary senators in their lighter moods find too intriguing. As between Mr. Lodge's retort and Mr. Heflin's rejoinder, the class in paraphraseology would be compelled to select the Alabama man's as the better literary effort. From the point of view of strict logic the Lodge parody, however, is the more forceful, although it is directed at an issue in the oil scandal that has long been abandoned. Mr. Vanderlip's part in the controversy has been found to be so minute and so little connected with any material fact that it can safely be neglected by all except the parties and attorneys in the suit which Mr. Vanderlip brought upon himself.

DEMOCRATIC INQUISITION

"If that is not a fact," cried one of the leaders of the democratic pack in the senate, "call witnesses before that committee and prove that it is not a fact." The remark came at the end of one of the familiar diatribes against prominent republicans that have become a daily feature of the senate proceedings. The language accurately interprets the state of mind of the senators who are foremost in the drive on the republican administration. They select a target in the cabinet, then get up and hurl at him the most astonishing charges of graft and incompetency, and then dare the republicans to prove the falsity of their utterances.

Since when has the burden of proof been on the accused in any American court or other body clothed with judicial powers? If men in public life are to be considered guilty until proved innocent what is to become of our government? Any man who has risen to prominence has had controversies with his rivals that involved charges which, if proved, would render him unfit for the position he holds. Under the democratic code in the senate, the mere filing of the charges would have the effect of proof and retire him to private life. The presumption of innocence is an American institution that is accorded to the basest criminal and must also be extended to the objects of democratic scandal mongers.

P. O. AIR FUND RESTORED

The senate has restored to the postoffice appropriation bill the item of $1,500,000 for maintaining the transcontinental air mail service through the next fiscal year. That is the route running from New York to San Francisco by way of Chicago and Omaha.

The expediting of important mail by means of the airplane is greatly to be desired, but that reason for continuing the air mail service is perhaps not so important as the need for stimulating popular interest in aviation as a means for national defense. When the air mail is in operation there are a number of skilled pilots ready to take their places in our military organizations, the airplane industry is aided to the extent of supplying the postal needs, and improvements in the art of flying are suggested from time to time. From every point of view it is desirable that the air mail service shall not be abolished.

BRITISH TRADE NOT HURT

The chancellor of the British exchequer declares that payments on the British debt to the United States have not prejudiced trade between the two countries. Here is an item of news that our cancellationists should ponder. Before the debt settlement was entered into, we were assured by those gentlemen that it was an economic impossibility for European countries to settle their obligation to America in gold. Yet Great Britain is making regular payments in gold, or in Liberty Bonds which is the same thing, without the slightest disturbance to trade.

Richmond Man Is Hold-up Victim Have $270,805 In City Strong Box

OAKLAND, March 10.—Two women are being held in the Oakland city prison in connection with the theft of a wallet containing $600 which belonged to F. A. Holt of Richmond. The wallet was stolen, according to the story that Holt told the police, some time Saturday night while he was attending a party which was given at the home of Mrs. Florence Anderson of 2607 Linden street. The police have in custody Mrs. Anderson and Miss Vivian Gomez, of 891 Mead street, who was also a guest at the party.

According to the police both women deny that they took the wallet. No charge has been placed against them.

In the city treasury there is a balance of $270,805.53. This is divided among the different funds as follows: general $91,769.09; library $3,464.60; compensation $10,739.19; school $6,556.86; memorial building $14,047.05; tax sales redemption $1,308.59; harbor improvement $87,769.71; park and playgrounds $12,519.51; 1912 bond, $2,358.50; 1920 bond, $398.67; 1922 bond, $1,355.71.

FIRE LOSS $600

The monthly report of Fire Chief Lemoine for February showed there was loss during that period of $600, equally divided between buildings and contents.

The report further showed that fire drills had been held, and hydrants in all parts of the city tested.

"Let's Go," With Many Daring Stunts At Macdonald Today

Richard Talmadge in "Let's Go," which will be the main attraction at the Macdonald theater tonight, is a combination of romance and thrills which makes for the highest type of screen entertainment.

The story revolves about the ne'er-do-well son of a wealthy business man who is literally forced into his opportunity for making good. After having detoured around all the policemen he could think of in his speedy roadster, the young man is confronted by one who has followed him to his father's office. To escape he actually jumps from the third story window of an office building directly into an automobile below and makes good his escape. From that point on starts the most amazing series of death-defying stunts ever shown in a motion picture.

Richard Talmadge, the star performer, every stunt himself without the aid of dummies, doubles, or trick photography of any kind. Every thrill in "Let's Go" is an honest-to-goodness thrill. Among others there is a fight depicted between the star and two characters which continues uninterrupted over a distance of two miles.

Mr. Roberts Tells of an Interesting Experience

There are few men in Richmond better known than those who would be better respected than Mr. Roberts. He is only one of many Richmond people who have given Doan's Pills their public endorsement. Surely Record-Herald readers cannot ask for more convincing evidence.

F. Roberts, deputy sheriff of 542 Tenth street, Richmond, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills are not a new remedy to me. I used them while on a trip to England a few years ago. Shortly after arriving, I had an attack of kidney trouble. I had severe backache and soreness over my kidneys and the action of my kidneys was irregular. Doan's Pills soon fixed me up in good shape and rid me of backaches. I have come to depend on Doan's. I have the least sign of kidney trouble and they give me prompt relief."

The dealers listed here protect their customers by selling Red Crown gasoline, which because of the exacting production standards maintained by this Company, is uniformly reliable, always and everywhere.

Protect your car by patronizing the dealers who protect you. You'll never have to drive very far to find a red, white and blue Red Crown sign, and your car will run better and farther if you let nothing go into your fuel tank except clean, reliable "Red Crown." Quick on the start, prompt on the pickup, economical on the long run—"Red Crown" has all the qualities you demand of a motor fuel, and has them uniformly.

Incidentally, it's worth reflecting that the garage man, service station, or other deal-

Look for the Red Crown disc and the red, white and blue pump—the two signs that identify a reliable dealer.

LESSON IN HOME DRESSMAKING

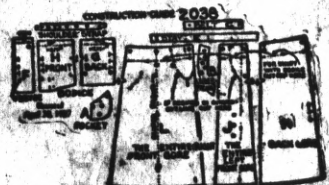

A Three-Piece, Separate Skirt that May Be Made with a Bodice if Desired

CONSTANTLY the separate skirt grows in importance, because it is a fundamental part both of the two-piece and the three-piece costume. Here is a new model that fastens at the left side. It is in three pieces and may have a long-waisted bodice if desired. The back gore is gathered. In medium size the model requires 2 1/2 yards of 36-inch material, with 1/2 yard lining for the bodice.

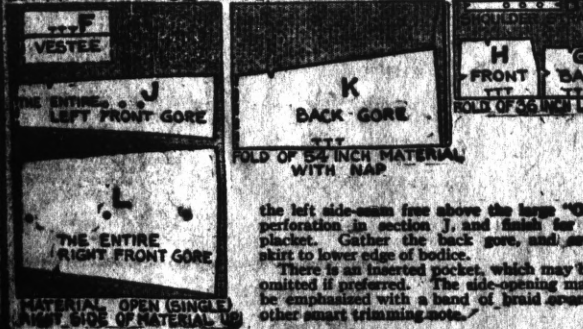

An open single width of material is required for the entire right and left front gores. If the vestee is made of the same fabric, there also will be enough material left for it after the gores are cut. To cut the back gore, fold the material and place the triple "T" perforations along the lengthwise fold. The front and back sections of the bodice are both placed along the lengthwise fold of the lining. Ribbon or tape may be used for the shoulder straps. After marking the notches and indicating the other symbols of construction, close the right under-arm seam of the bodice as notched, and finish the left under-arm seam for closing. Form a plait in front, crossing on slot perforations, and stitch. Hem the lower edge of the bodice and insert a ribbon or elastic. Stitch the ends of the shoulder strap underneath the hem. Next, hem the vestee and adjust on the front of the bodice. Now, take the skirt and turn the hem in section L on slot perforations. Adjust the underfracing (B) underneath the curved edge (above the hem), with corresponding edges and single large "O" perforations over. Lay section L on section J to line of small "O" perforations, and stitch two inches from folded edge. Leave the edges free above the double small "O" perforations in section "J," and finish for closing. Join the gores as notched, and if the skirt is worn with the bodice, leave

A Style Talk by Maude Hall

THE fashions that are most irresistible in their allure bespeak Paris inspiration—so, of course, originality is obvious at a glance. The mandarins of dress, who have the authority to decree what women shall and shall not wear and be considered smart are giving more attention to what the chic Parisienne calls the "every-occasion frock." This is a type of dress that can be worn at any time of the day and is even appropriate for many informal evening purposes. Much of the charm of the design lies in its youthful suppleness of line and the refinement of the little accessories that help to make up the sum total of its smartness.

In the new tailors that Paris sponsors, the well-dressed woman will find models that appeal to many types. They are featured in hair-line stripes, fine twill, covert cloth, and the men's-wear fabrics. When one is inclined to select both a striped and a plain fabric, a compromise may be reached in a skirt of hair-line flannel and a jacket of plain blue men's-wear serge. There are indications that navy blue is going to be in great demand throughout the Spring and Summer. The skirt should be fashioned on rather severe lines, and nothing could be smarter than a wrap-around model. The jacket should fall no longer than hip-length, the fronts being slightly parted to disclose a vest of some dainty material. Vests are among the accessories that count mightily in the originality of a costume just now, and the limit that one may go to in their selection is practically boundless. If the collar correspond with the skirt, so much the better. If not, Fashion still gives enthusiastic approval to the tailleur. The same freedom of choice is allowed in sleeves, which may be bell-shaped or tight-fitting.

Many frocks for street and general wear are also developed in the French flannels that have taken such a hold upon popular favor. A design in one of the brilliant new plaids, which would be quite as effective in any other material, is of the slip-on type, with slashes at the right side of the blouse and at the left side of the skirt. Here is a really clever way of imparting variety to the straight-line that will make a strong appeal, especially to home dressmakers, because it supplies originality at a minimum of work and effort. If desired, buttons or braid may be added in the way of decoration. When the material is of plaid or bold check, the buttons are most effective in solid color; and the order is merely reversed when the fabric is of plain color.

For well-developed figures the season's modes offer nothing smarter than a model in check flannel, the check being selected, of course, with the physical proportions of the wearer in mind. A dress that is fashioned in one piece upon very straight lines has two features that are interesting to note. One is a vest in oval effect, with deep turn-over collar to correspond. The choice is also given the wearer of having the vest cut in square outline, extending to within a few inches of the belt if preferred. The other feature is three-quarter sleeves, scalloped at the lower edge, with barrel cuffs attached. The cuffs are gathered into straight bands at the wrists.

The artistic appearance of the model is heightened if the cuffs correspond with the vest and collar.

There does not seem very much left to be said in praise of the new cottons, but since they continue to flow from Fashion's horn of plenty in such bewildering profusion, one must not weary of the task of attempting to describe them. Their colors, texture and designs are fascinating and unusually lovely, and many of the cottons are in weights that permit them to be used in the same way as silks and light-weight woollens are used.

Cotton and silk-fiber mixtures make some of the loveliest fabrics of the year. A model in one of these novelties—the French and American offerings are equally lovely—has a very long waist to which is attached a circular skirt. The waist is belted at each side, but the front and back are plain and slightly fitted. Large patch pockets, stitched about with braid, and undercuffs of white linen are outstanding (no pun intended) features of the design. In addition to the printed cottons there are many distinctive new weaves in white.

In the vanguard of the very latest frocks from Paris are several models in rustling taffeta. Some have quaint basques and shirred skirts made smart with unusual uses of lace, flowers and insertion.

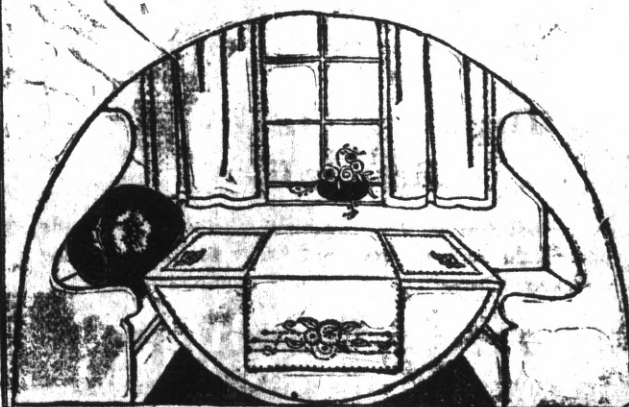

All of the new things for small children are fashioned with the idea of playtime in mind. They have bloomer attachments, and the bloomer has become such an indispensable part of the kiddie frock that it is not omitted even from models made of the finest fabrics.

APPEALING EMBROIDERIES FOR COZY-CORNER LINENS

Appliqués to Beautify Scarfs, Fancy Pillows, and Breakfast Sets Feature Colorful Designs

By MONA MULLEN

NOTHING so helps to make a cozy corner more alluring and attractive as dainty embroideries. Appliqués are favorite designs because they are bold and colorful and always easy to make. In appliquéing motifs to various backgrounds one always has such a wide choice of stitches from which to choose that there is no excuse for the needleworker who wishes to employ this form of decoration for her household linens. Even the plain running stitch is permissible, though the more thought and care one puts into the stitching, the more beautiful will be the appliqué work.

No. 12891—Appliqué Embroidery on Linens

The transfer of the designs illustrated supplies four motifs 3 1/2 inches high; four motifs 3 1/4 inches high; four each of two different motifs 4 inches high; two of a 4 1/2 inch motif; and two motifs five inches in height. In addition to the motifs, cutting guides for the appliqué.

The flower and circle motifs are suitable for use on the remainder of the design may be developed in embroidery. Silk, worsteds, cottons and linens may be used to develop the motifs when they are used on dresses, coats, etc., for which they are quite as well suited as for household linens.

Scarfs of rayon, linen, unbleached muslin, etc., have the motifs made of gingham, chambray, etc., applied onto the back ground with mercerized cotton thread.

Mix in order and drop by teaspoonful two inches apart onto a greased baking-sheet. Bake in a hot oven seven to ten minutes. Remove from the oven, cool one minute before taking from the pan.

Fruit Filling

1/2 cupful seeded raisins, 1/2 cupful chopped dates, 1/2 cupful chopped figs, 1/2 cupful chopped nuts, 2 teaspoonfuls lemon-juice.

Mix with a boiled or uncooked frosting and use as a filling for Lady Baltimore cake. Citron and candied cherries may be added.

Cream Filling

1/2 cupful sugar, 1/2 cupful flour, 1/2 teaspoonful salt, 2 eggs, 2 cupfuls scalded milk, 1 teaspoonful vanilla or 1/2 teaspoonful lemon-extract.

Mix the dry ingredients, add the eggs slightly beaten, and pour on gradually the scalded milk. Cook fifteen minutes in a double boiler, stirring constantly until thickened afterward occasionally. Cool and flavor.

Chocolate-Cream Filling

Add 1/2 cup and one-half square of chocolate to the recipe for cream filling.

Stock Indemnity Legality To Be Determined Soon

A special session of the State Legislature will be called to provide the funds for paying the State's share of the cost of livestock slaughtered in the hoof and mouth disease epidemic, provided payment can be shown to be constitutional, according to Governor Richardson.

Governor Richardson, who returned to Sacramento yesterday after attending a conference of bankers in San Francisco, at which State indemnity plans were discussed, said that a "definite legal and intelligent program should be worked out by bankers and livestock owners of the state, so that whatever legislation is undertaken will not be subject to attack on the ground of unconstitutionality."

The present state laws do not provide, he said, for payment of such losses, and a way will have to be found to make such action legal.

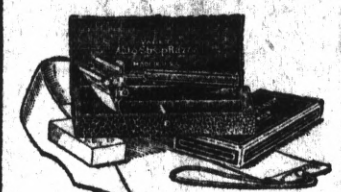

"This should be done immediately," he said, "for every business is interested in stopping the ravages of the disease."

"The business men of San Francisco do not seem to appreciate the gravity of the situation," the governor declared. "Should the disease spread, the port of San Francisco will be put under quarantine, and millions of dollars lost. Every business in California is interested in stopping the ravages of this disease. Fruit men, real estate men, retailers, bankers, manufacturers, are in peril along with the stockmen."

A committee of bankers and leaders in the livestock and dairy industries, appointed at last Friday's conference in San Francisco, is now at work on a plan to be submitted to the State Legislature for reimbursing the owners of slaughtered livestock.

Shrubbery Work In Nicholl Park Is Near Completion

Just at the tail end of the meeting the council last evening parks came up for a short time.

City Manager McVittie reported that the contractors had completed the work of planting trees and shrubbery in Nicholl park.

The proposition of making a lake-side park out of the water front property at the Point, adjoining the Washington school also came up, and this is to be given future consideration.

It was the general opinion of the members that the improvement of this piece of property would entail a very large expense, and the city was not in a position financially at this time to proceed with such a project.

Maps of the territory were ordered furnished the residents of the Point and also the park and playground commission to see if some proposition could not be worked out that would meet with general approval.

Stockholders Plan To Form Board

Plans are being made to form the Richmond Stockholders of Westgate Metal Products company of Oakland, of which there are about 300 in this vicinity, into a protective association for the purpose of protecting their interests in the concern. Local stockholders feel that if the Richmond stockholders of the firm go to get greater protection will be afforded.

This movement was set on foot by a meeting of 150 of the 300 stockholders of this district which was held last week in the Labor Temple here. One official of the company and one former official of the firm explained at this gathering the reasons of the 10 per cent assessment which has been levied on all capital stock of the company and which is due to be paid at the company offices the 15th of the month.

Stockholders who attended this session filed many pointed questions at the officials who were explaining the assessment and a great deal of argument followed, regarding the present status of the company and the assessment. A statement was made by A. T. Burch, vice president of the concern that were contradicted by A. L. Studebaker, former director of the firm, that there is still a good deal of dissatisfaction rise among the stockholders here. The shares held by the local stockholders in the concern amounts to about $75,000.

Will Be Tried On Liquor Charge

Martin Humphreys, Stege farmer, will come up for trial today before Police Judge C. A. Odell on the charge of possession of liquor. This is the last trial of the charges that will come up as the result of the operations carried on by private operatives here some time ago. The detectives, including Miss Delta Halverson, of San Francisco, rounded up about eight of the offenders of the national prohibition act here, all of who have entered pleas of guilty and received sentences or fines.

The holding of the trial has been pending for some time, owing to the fact that the agents who took in Humphreys have not been able to appear as witnesses against the alleged offender.

THERE IS A DIFFERENCE

OAKLAND, Feb. 4, 1924.
I had High Blood Pressure, Dizziness and Heart Trouble for about three years. After having tried many kinds of doctors, I went to a Chinese Herbalist who charges two dollars more for each week's herb supply than do the others. I took his treatment for six weeks, but got no better.
Then my friend, Mr. Haskell, told me to go to FONG WAN, who had cured him of Kidney Trouble of FOURTEEN YEARS' STANDING. So I went to FONG WAN and he cured me in eight weeks. This was three months ago, but today I still feel like a new man. I am certain that FONG WAN is strictly honest. He charges no more than others, yet his herbs bring quick results.

County Bar Association Passes Resolutions of Respect For Tinning

Resolutions of respect to the memory of the late Attorney W. S. Tinning, pioneer of Contra Costa county and former president of the Contra Costa Bar Association, who passed away late in December, were read yesterday morning at a meeting of the Bar Association, held in the Judges A. B. McKenzie and H. V. Alvarado sitting in banc, the tribute to the deceased was read. Immediately following appropriate remarks were made by both Superior judges and the resolution was ordered on the minutes of the court.

The resolution, prepared by Attorneys T. D. Johnston, chairman; H. L. Boyer and T. M. Carlson, was as follows:

WHEREAS, the undersigned were on the 18th day of February, 1924, appointed as a committee by the Bar Association of Contra Costa County, California, to prepare and present resolutions of respect to the memory of our deceased brother, the Honorable W. S. Tinning, for many years a leading member of the Bar of the said County of Contra Costa.

Now, therefore, whereas, in obedience to that inevitable law which governs all things mortal, the Honorable W. S. Tinning has been suddenly summoned from the ranks of life. In his early life as a practicing attorney by the selection of the electorate. He became District Attorney of this County, which position he filled with credit to the County and honor to himself. His sterling qualities as a citizen and as an attorney made him an example which might well be followed by any member of his profession.

From the earliest period of its history he connected himself with the fortunes of this rising state. Of the Bar of California—which, in its wide and influential membership, embraces many who had risen to distinction before their advent here—he became a prominent and shining light. He possessed, in rare degree, that intellectual organization which is designated as a legal mind. In all the operations of government, in all the administrations of discipline and power, in all the social regulations of community, he traced out the development of the principle of law. His whole existence was a system, his daily life a rule. Based upon fundamental truth, his mental processes employed reason as a guide, and traveled on to logic as a goal. Deeply read in the abstrusest lore of that science to which his life had been devoted, yet equally avoiding the amplexes of simplicity and the imposing affectation of the scholar, he was profound rather than brilliant, practical rather than pedantic, and his speech was more remarkable for force of argument than elegance of diction.

RESOLVED, That we realize, as the converse of the poet's moral, that the good which he has done lives

Appointed County Inheritance Tax Collector By Riley

Fred S. Newsom of Richmond has been appointed by State Controller Ray L. Riley as inheritance tax appraiser for Contra Costa county to succeed Ernest H. Kueffer. Kueffer recently resigned his position, owing to the fact that he had removed from this territory. Newsom will take up his duties at once. His appointment was made effective March 5.

after him, and while its useful influence will survive unto the living, its bright example will stimulate and strengthen those who follow unto higher aims and nobler efforts.

As an educator in this state in his early youth, his worth was well recognized. In later years his judgment as a public official was founded upon sound reasoning.

For a number of years as a member of the State Board of Charities and Corrections he showed a rare and discriminating judgment which indicated that though as a practicing attorney and as a public official, he had been brought in contact with the more sordid characteristics of human life and particularly of those who were criminally inclined. Still he could view with charity the shortcomings of the human race, and those whose environment had not placed them in a station in life which afforded them the opportunity to correctly judge of their duty toward society.

We, personally, have lost an esteemed friend; the county has lost a worthy citizen, and the Bar of this state an attorney of note and credit.

Respectfully submitted,
THOS. D. JOHNSTON,
T. M. CARLSON,
E. L. BOYER.

Connie Talmadge Stars In Film At California Today

Once a film player becomes famous in a certain type of characterization it is a Herculean task to overcome the reputation acquired if he or she is ambitious to tackle something new. Especially is this true of a player who becomes known as a delineator of comedy.

But "a star can do no wrong," and the apparently impossible has been achieved. The leading comedienne of the silver sheet has demonstrated that she is just as good an actress in portraying a straight dramatic role as in arousing the risibilities.

This star is Constance Talmadge, whose latest production, "The Dangerous Maid," a First National picture opened yesterday at the California theater, and proved to be the finest film offering which she has ever appeared in. While this reviewer is extremely partial to comedy, he doesn't care now whether Miss Talmadge ever again appears in a humorous role.

"The Dangerous Maid" is a swiftly moving tale of old England, with the star in the role of Barbara Winslow, who glories in the fact that she is a rebel against the authority of the king who is trying to tread the people under foot. Although a whole regiment of soldiers is billeted in the village in which she lives, they are not strong enough to curb the activities of the charming rebel, who makes a laughing stock of the officers by outwitting them at every turn.

Conway Tearle, the heart-breaker of the screen, is Miss Talmadge's leading man, and as Captain Miles Brotherton is a heroic and romantic figure. The remainder of the cast matches up to this unbeatable pair in every respect.

"The Dangerous Maid" is a real entertainment. Not a vestige of padding is apparent as reel after reel unfolds, and you will agree with us that it is all too short. And the pictorial backgrounds are masterpieces of beautiful splendor.

The picture was directed by Victor Heerman and is based on the novel by Elizabeth Ellis. C. Gardner Sullivan made the adaptation.

Added attractions on the same program: A new round of the "Leather Pushers," with all the old-time favorites in the cast. "Surprise," an inkwell cartoon, and "Fun From the Press." Larry F. Canelo at the main motion organ.

California-Oregon Fr. Co. showed steady growth in 1923. Los Angeles—Realty deals involving $4,350,000 reported for one day.
